

What is an Official Plan?

Where We
Are Today

Where &
How to Grow

What's Next

Where We
Are Today

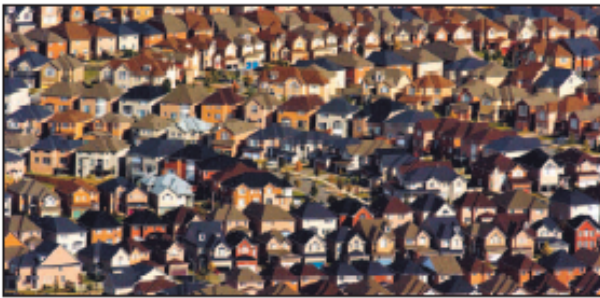

Vaughan is part of a growing region

TORONTO STAR

THUNDERSTOWERS, HIGHZEP * FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 2006 * thestar.com

4 MILLION MORE PEOPLE, BUT WITHOUT THE SPRAWL

EXCLUSIVE Ontario plans bold new rules to promote compact communities where people can live and work without cars

The province's government wants to end the kind of development, like this one in Markham, that built a mass commute to city, over some good lots of land.

More of us, living better

By David Green

The good news is that the province's new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars. The bad news is that the province's new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

The province's new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars. The bad news is that the province's new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

The new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

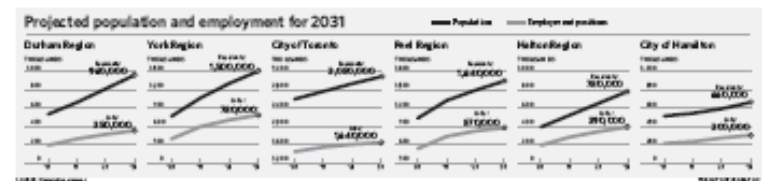

25 years in the future, the province will have 4 million more people living in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

40 years in the future, the province will have 8 million more people living in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

25 years in the future, the province will have 4 million more people living in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

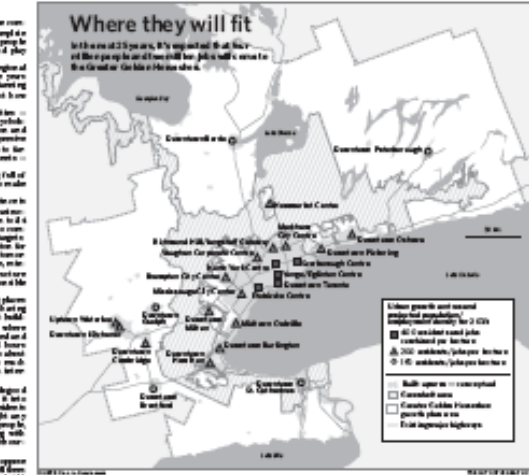

Growth Strategy

'Freeze the way we're going, the cities are too pretty to let go'
-Infrastructure Minister David Caplan

'People want to see action on sprawl, air quality and traffic congestion'

By David Green

Freeze the way we're going

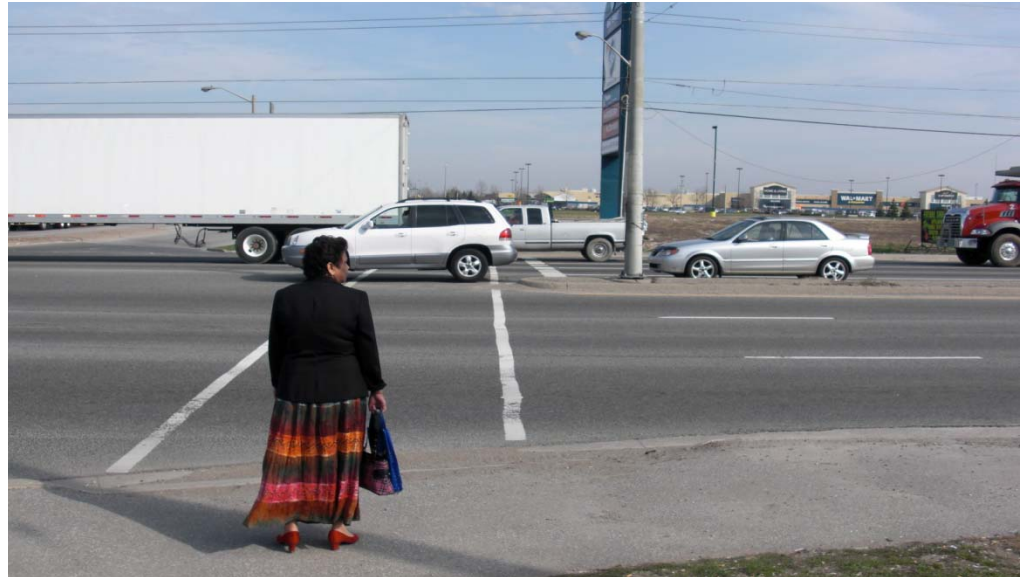

The province's new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

The new rules will mean that more people can live in compact communities where they can live and work without cars.

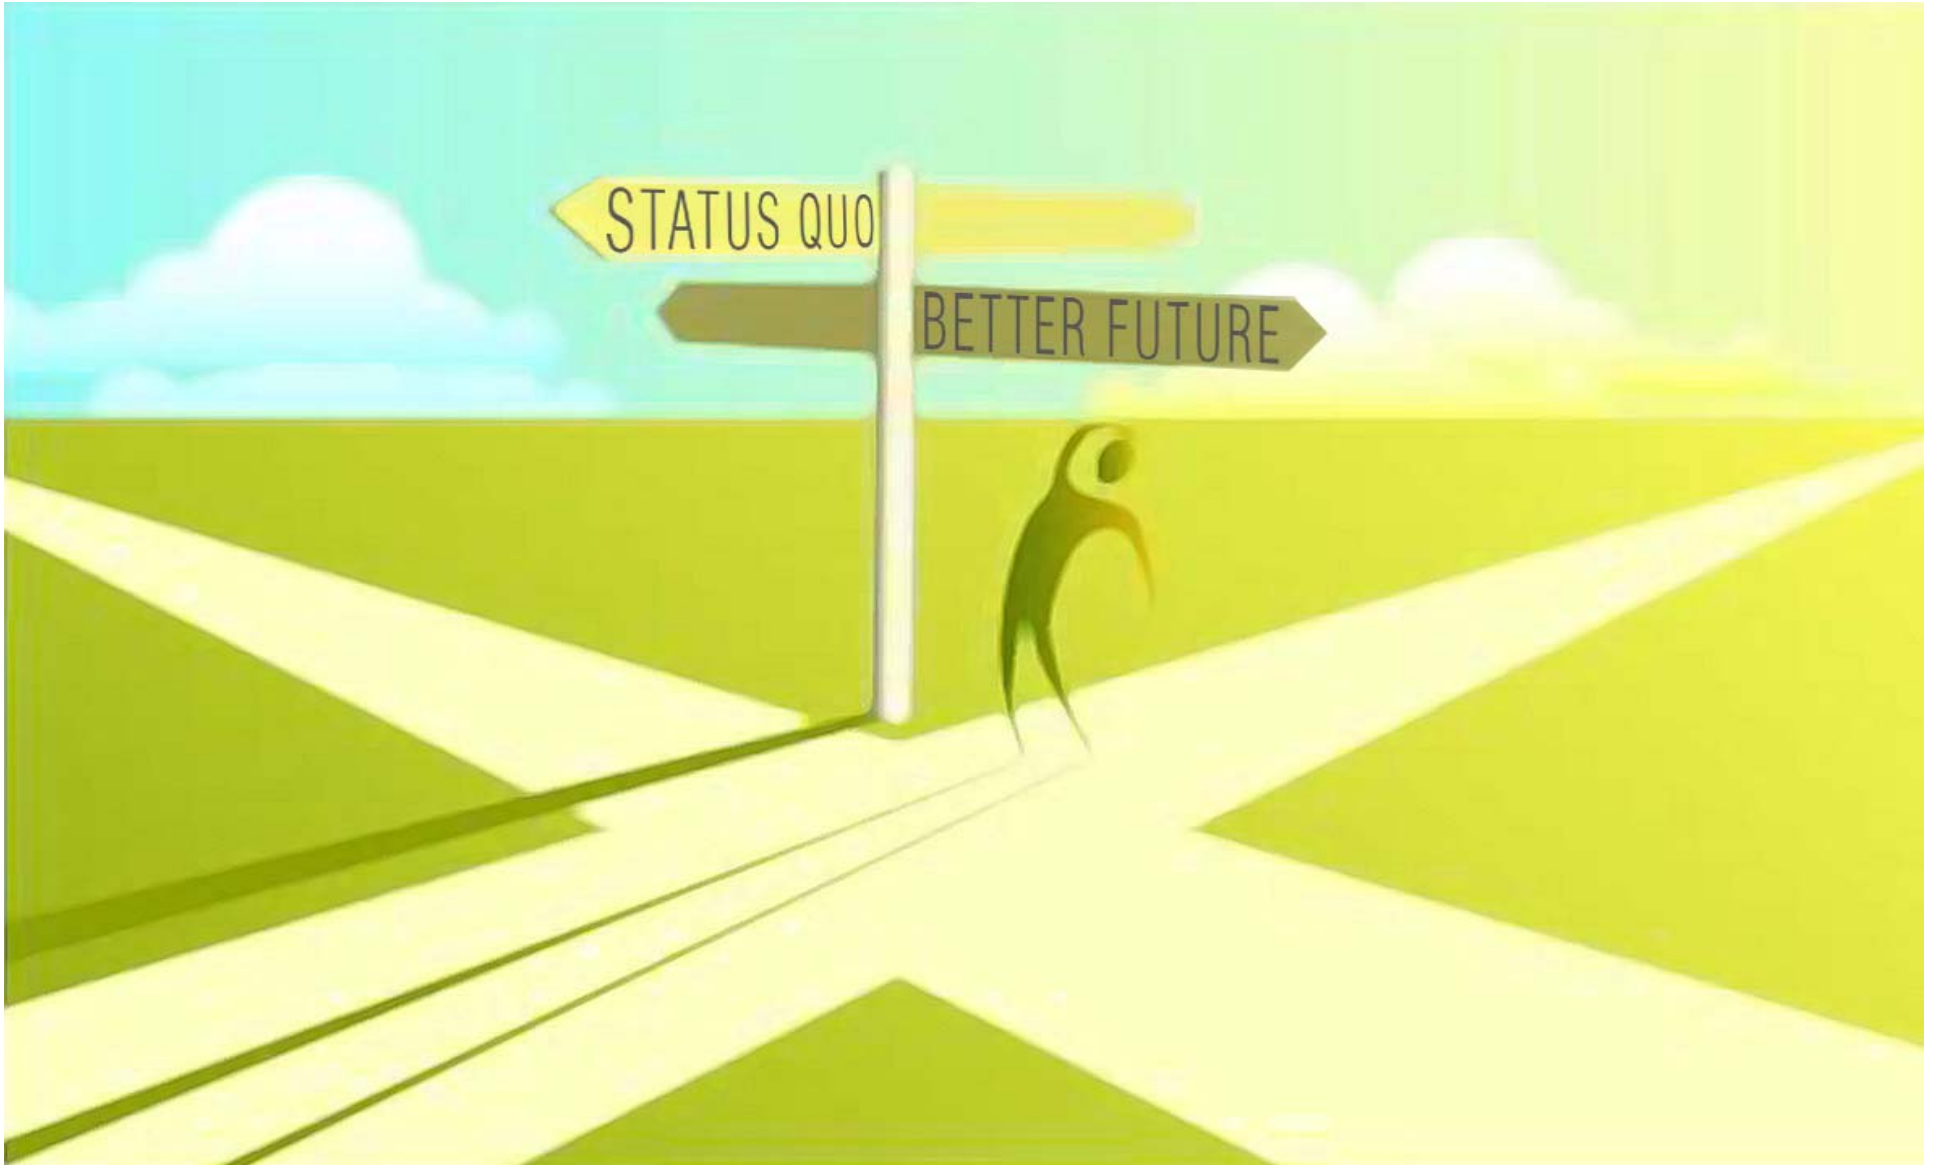

Where We
Are Today

Our current pattern of growth has created challenges

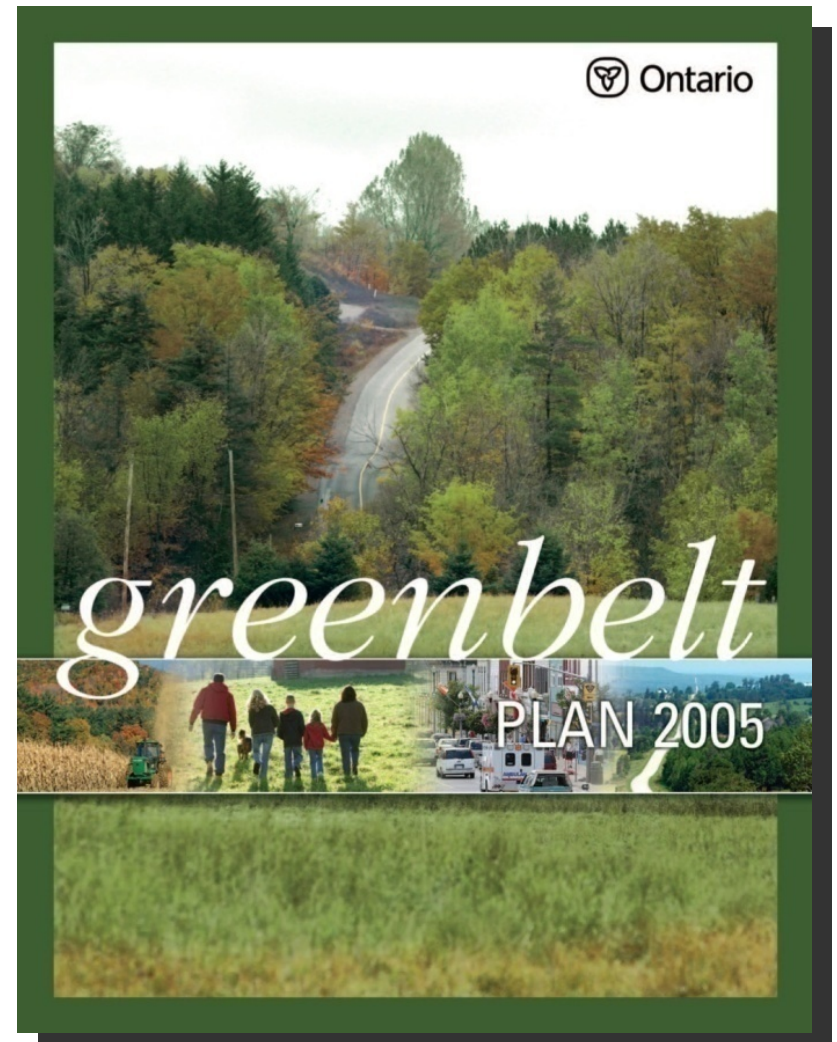

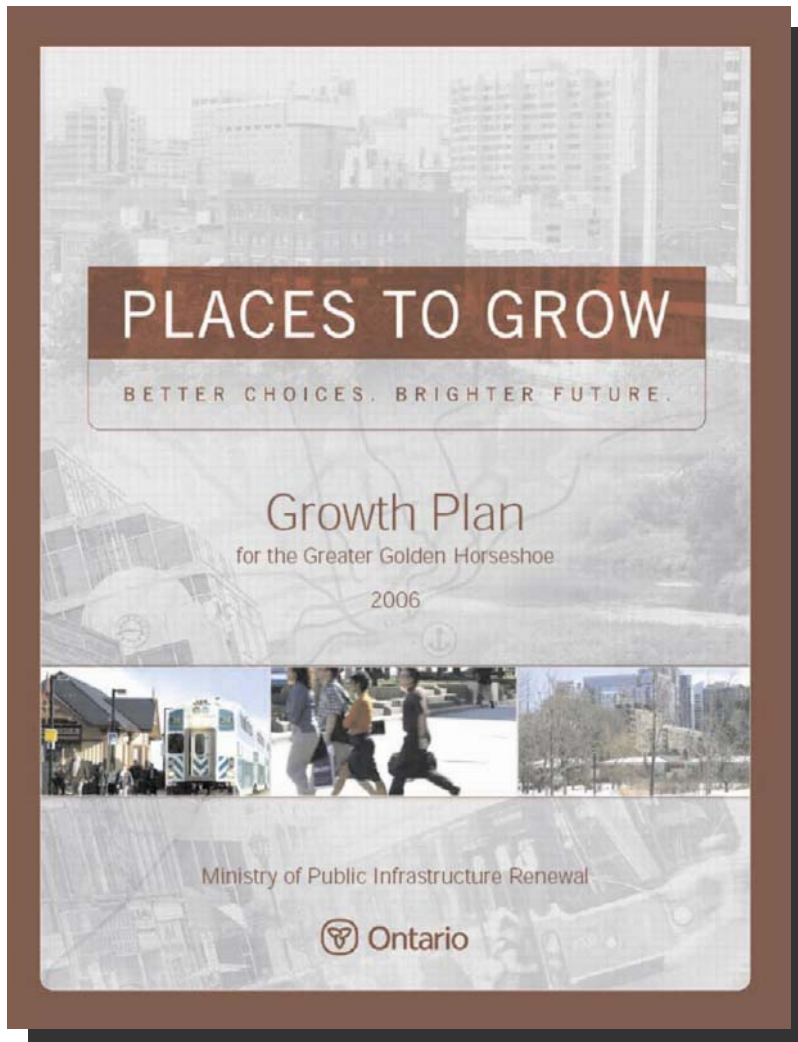

Where We
Are Today

Today we're at a crossroads

Where We
Are Today

There are new provincial policies

Where We
Are Today

There are new regional policies being developed

Where We
Are Today

The City of Vaughan has responded with

Vaughan Tomorrow

O U R C I T Y . O U R V O I C E .

Where We
Are Today

First we created a Vision

Vision binder

Vision brochure

A Vision for Transformation

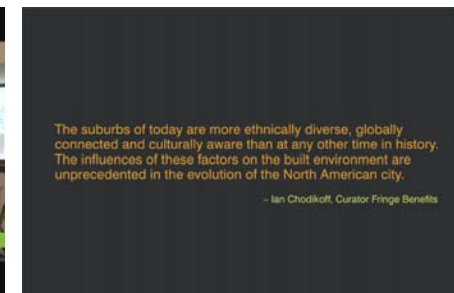

- The Vision is based on 8 themes:
- 1 A Vision for strong and diverse neighbourhoods
 - 2 A Vision for a robust and prominent countryside
 - 3 A Vision for a diverse economy
 - 4 A Vision for a vibrant and thriving downtown
 - 5 A Vision for moving around without a car
 - 6 A Vision for design excellence and memorable places
 - 7 A Vision for a green and sustainable city
 - 8 A Vision for directing growth

Workshop comment card

Vaughan documentary

A Vision for...

1. Strong & diverse neighbourhoods

2. A robust & prominent countryside

3. A diverse economy

4. A vibrant & thriving downtown

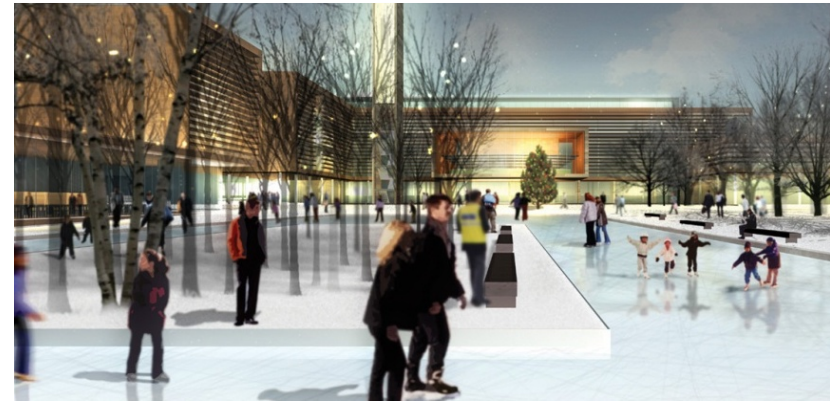

A Vision for...

5. Moving around without a car

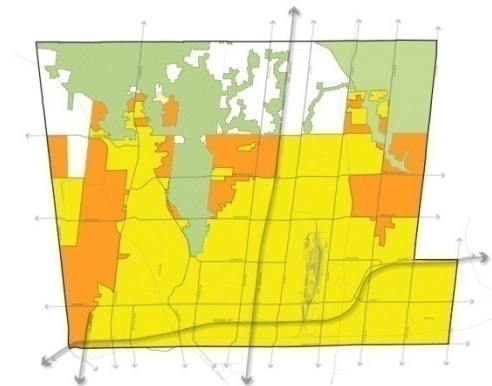

6. Design excellence & memorable places

7. A green & sustainable city

8. Directing growth

Where We
Are Today

Now we are moving to policy development

